

The nation's top financial media turns to Research Financial Strategies for insight on issues affecting today's investor. Founder and President, Jack Reutemann, has been called upon to lend commentary on a number of financial matters. See what he had to say:

CNBC

“The real problem is the lack of credit; small businessmen can't get credit, consumers can't get credit.”

-Jack Reutemann
CNBC “The Call”
February 5, 2010

“There's an easing of people's minds this week with respect to Bernanke and that's helping, although some people would still like to get rid of him.”

-Jack Reutemann
“Banks drag on stocks”
January 26, 2010

CNNMoney.com

“Passively managed ETFs will keep costs low...”

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

-Jack Reutemann
“Will stock-picking managers be the next big thing for ETFs?”
January 6, 2010

“We are absolutely at the top of another stock market bubble. I would not be surprised to see another pull back to 850 on the S&P in the next 3 to 5 months.”

-Jack Reutemann
CNBC “Squawk on the Street”
December 28, 2009

CNBC

“Most investors do not have a risk management strategy and they're not preparing themselves for the next market correction.”

FOX BUSINESS

-Jack Reutemann
“Stock market play by play”
December 24, 2009

“The investors who can benefit from these ETFs are those who believe in active management based out performance, those who are no longer interested in pursuing a traditional ‘buy and hold’ approach, and those who are generally fed up with the incompetence in mutual funds and their historically bad performance.”

-Jack Reutemann
“Are actively managed ETFs right for you?”
December 18, 2009

DailyFinance
an AOL site

For more information on Jack Reutemann and Research Financial Strategies located in the Washington Metropolitan area, visit www.rfsadvisors.com